Five rows of handwriting practice on horizontal lines. Each row starts with a solid cross and a downward arrow labeled '1' pointing to the top dot, and a rightward arrow labeled '2' pointing to the second dot from the left. This is followed by four columns of dotted crosses, each with a downward arrow labeled '1' pointing to the top dot and a rightward arrow labeled '2' pointing to the second dot from the left. The first row shows the full dotted cross. The second row shows the vertical line and the first two dots of the horizontal line. The third row shows the vertical line and the first three dots of the horizontal line. The fourth row shows the vertical line and the first four dots of the horizontal line. The fifth row shows the vertical line and the first five dots of the horizontal line.
